Good evening, professor and classmates.

I am Valeria Nieves Villalba. I like to play paddle tennis with my friends, go for walks with my dog, and ride my motorbike. Speaking in English is difficult for me; I get very nervous. I am a teacher. I work in two PRoA schools with a focus on software development. I love technology.

I travel to work from Monday to Thursday from Eight AM to Five PM. I don't have lunch at school because I only have a few minutes. I am in charge of the department for the specialty in projects and maintenance of the laboratory. On Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays, I attend the technical program until ten at night. I am free on Fridays.

Currently, I am in my second year of the Data Science and AI technical program. My big challenge is data analysis. I try to be a better professional every day. I demand too much of myself. I am in a space that is very demanding, and I would like to be able to inspire my students with this that I love very much. This makes me very proud, both as a teacher and personally. Nowadays, it is not easy to work in education, but it makes me think about what would happen if there are no teachers who educate.

I have the same routine every day. I live alone with my dog Milo. I try to make Fridays and the weekend for distraction to recharge, like sleeping in, cleaning, and going for walks with Milo.

Thank you very much.-
